

I graduated from Job Corp
with honors.

I'm now taking
college courses.

My son and I
have a bright future.

For most of my life, I've been

HOMELESS.

Shamia, age 28, shown with her son, Derrick, 4 months.

Not who you expected? Like many homeless children in Hillsborough County, Shamia grew up without a permanent address. As an adult, she couldn't afford a stable place to live. Fortunately, she is now receiving the training she needs to be a good provider. In order to afford the rent of a modest, one-bedroom apartment, she will need to make $13 an hour, nearly twice Florida's minimum wage.
